Headline:
Rain, turning to sleet and snow for many. Windy throughout.

Today:
Outbreaks of rain, heavy at times, continue through the morning for most, increasingly falling as sleet and snow, especially over high ground. Gradually turning drier in the afternoon. Windy, with coastal gales. Maximum temperature 7 deg C (45 deg F).

Tonight:
Any remaining rain and snow will clear this evening, leaving a dry night for all, with clear spells. Cold, with frost and ice patches likely to develop. Winds easing. Minimum temperature -4 deg C (25 deg F).

Sunday:
A cold, bright and frosty start. Cloud increasing from the southwest, with outbreaks of rain developing across many southern and some western areas. Becoming windy. Perhaps coastal gales southwest. Maximum temperature 4 deg C (39 deg F).

Outlook for Monday to Wednesday:
Rather cloudy on Monday but becoming mainly dry. Milder Tuesday but with blustery rain. Brighter and less windy, but showery on Wednesday.
